COUNCIL OKAYS PARKING METER RESERVATION OF .25 AN HOUR

Gettysburg Town Council spent most of its June meeting discussing town parking and traffic problems, rejected two of three regulatory ordinances that were proposed and heard from the Highway Committee that present arrangements for the bus stop at the Shelter House on Chambersburg St. will be continued "for the time being."

Three parking ordinances were proposed by Councilman Robert D. Fidler. Two were passed and one tabled and then the first was rescinded so that the meeting ended with one ordinance passed, one tabled and one passed and then rescinded within an hour.

The first ordinance Fidler proposed made little change in present borough parking regulations except to ban double parking and to authorize police to give tickets for all types of parking violations. The second ordinance that was tabled would have set up loading and unloading zones on each side of each block in the business district and the third which was adopted and stayed on the books provides for temporary reservation of metered parking spaces at a rental rate of 25 cents per hour per meter.

Cancel One Ordinance

After council adopted the first measure, which banned double parking, it tabled the second because "we're not ready for that yet." Then council found itself in the position of having banned double parking and made no provision for loading and unloading zones. The result was that the ordinance banning double parking was cancelled.

Burgess Wilbur Plank who entered the parking discussion at several stages indicated that the three ordinances had been intended as a "package" plan and that the first would not be practicable without the second. Chief of Police Jack Bartlett sat in on the discussion also and indicated the proposed measures were aimed at improving the flow of traffic through the business section by eliminating double parking that he said was the cause of much of the congestion.

After the first measure banning double parking and requiring parking within 12 inches of the curb (Continued On Page 3)

COL. BEECHINOR GIVES TALK ON MEMORIAL DAY

"Memorial Day is a day on which you and I should honor not only the veterans who protected and preserved our liberties in war, but our fathers and forefathers who have given us in their own way and time a birthright which cannot be equalled in any other country," Lt. Col. Robert M. Beechinor, professor of military science and tactics at Gettysburg College, told the local Rotary club at its meeting Monday evening in the YWCA.

"As a first generation American whose parents immigrated from England and Ireland I cannot lay claim to Memorial Day in the same manner as do many of you," Colonel Beechinor told the Rotarians. "Nor am I so far from removed from you in your status as a civilian, because, despite my uniform, I am a citizen soldier, a reserve officer on active duty, who for a second time has been called upon to serve in the armed forces."

"In my native Connecticut I grew up with two distinct impressions with regard to holidays. Memorial Day was a day on which we honored the men who served our country during the War of the Rebellion and Armistice Day was set aside to honor those who served in World War I. In the process of seeing the world and our country as a member of the armed forces I have obtained additional impressions and observations of customs."

Impressed Last Friday "But I did not have the significance of this day well catalogued until I observed the impressive ceremony which was held in the Gettysburg National Cemetery this past weekend."

"I recently visited our National Cemetery at Arlington and noted the preparations that were being made to honor the unknown servicemen of World War II and Korea. Our first unknown soldier who has fought a war to end all wars and whose comrades - in - arms we previously honored on Armistice Day now has (Continued On Page 9)

Driver Education Class To Start

Friday has been set as the date for the first meeting of the summer driver education course to be offered at Gettysburg High School. All persons from Cumberland, Freedom, Mt. Joy and Straban Twp. and Gettysburg are eligible to enroll.

The course will include both classroom instruction and practice driving for a period of ten weeks. One night of each week will be devoted to the classroom phase. The practice driving will be arranged at the convenience of the instructor and the pupil, either day or evening, one hour per lesson, three hours weekly.

The registration fee of $3 will be payable on the night of registration. This will be refunded to the student providing he attends 75 per cent of the scheduled classes and returns all materials in good condition.

Any person living in the five school districts mentioned, who is interested in this course and who has not enrolled, should send a letter or card to the Superintendent of Schools, Gettysburg High School, not later than Thursday. New registrations will not be accepted on Friday at the first meeting of the class.

LEGION ELECTS HAROLD W. CULP AS COMMANDER

Harold W. Culp, Hanover St., was elected commander of the Albert J. Lentz Post of the American Legion at a meeting of the post Monday evening at the American Legion club building, Baltimore St.

Culp, now serving as senior vice commander, will succeed John Guise as commander of the post. A World War II veteran, Culp, who is also president of the Gettysburg Fire Department, served in the Army from 1944 through 1946, and after undergoing infantry training at Camp Robinson, Ark., was assigned to the 113th CIC unit of the Counter Intelligence Corps, assigned to the Fifth Army. He was separated from the service as a sergeant.

Edgar Bowling was elected first vice commander; Robert E. Fox, second vice commander; William T. Timmins Jr., adjutant; Richard Finkboner, finance officer; Dr. Frederick Tibber, historian; Richard L. Fox, chaplain; Glenn Minter and Dale Bowling, sergeants-at-arm, and Howard Strausbaugh, trustee.

Chosen Delegates
Named as delegates for the state convention to be held at Philadelphia July 23-26 were Harold Culp, Edgar Bowling, Robert E. Fox, Robert W. Fox, John Guise, Richard Fox, Richard Finkboner, Glenn Minter, Dale Bowling and Lawrence Sheads.

Selected as alternates were Glenn Harner, Glenn Timmons, Attorney John MacPhail, Paul B. Fox, Harry D. Ridinger, S. Charles Smith, Paul L. Spangler, Harold Wentz, Howard Strausbaugh and William T. Timmins Jr.

DR. DEARDORFF ENTERS FIELD OF PATHOLOGY

Dr. John E. Deardorff, of Northumberland, Pa., son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar L. Deardorff, 440 Carlisle St., will close his practice in Northumberland to enter a residency in pathology at the Veterans Administration Hospital in Coral Gables, Fla.

In a recent edition The Sunbury Daily Item published the following:

"After nearly 10 years of outstanding service to the community, John E. Deardorff, M.D., 272 Water St., Northumberland, will terminate his practice here to enter a residency in pathology, he announced today. He plans to begin his preparation for this highly specialized field July 15 at the Veterans Administration Hospital in Coral Gables, Florida, and in the University of Miami Medical School. The period of residency is four years."

Gettysburg College Grad
"Mrs. Deardorff and children, Evan, a senior in the local high school; David, a sixth grade pupil; Donna, in eighth grade, and Marilyn, aged six, will remain at the family home here. A native of Gettysburg and a graduate of Gettysburg College and Jefferson Medical College, Philadelphia, Dr. Deardorff began practice in Northumberland in June, 1946."

THIEVES GET $20
State police were called Monday to the "Twin-Kiss" ice cream stand about two miles south of here on the Emmitsburg Rd. A thief or thieves had broken a window on the south side of the small structure during the night and removed approximately $20 in tax money in a container in the building.

CENTRAL PENN LUTHERANS IN SESSION HERE

The president of the Central Pennsylvania Synod of the United Lutheran Church in America today urged members in session on the Gettysburg College campus to give their "most serious consideration" to the shortage of ministers.

The Rev. Dr. Dwight F. Putman told the opening business session of the synod's 21st annual convention that the rural churches, particularly, are confronted by a critical moment as a result of this shortage.

He estimated there will still remain 35 to 40 vacancies among the 626 congregations in the synod after some 18 graduates from the seminaries here and in Philadelphia are called to vacant charges.

Asks Systematic Effort
Dr. Putman called for a "systematic effort" to have pastors report names of promising young men in their congregations who would then be contacted and interviewed in regard to the calling of the ministry.

On the whole, he viewed the past year "as a good one for our synod."

"In apportioned benevolences and Lutheran World Action all goals were met and exceeded... our pastors and lay people are to be highly commended for their fine devotion to and excellent achievement in the life and work of our great church."

Reports Statistics

The secretary of the synod, the Rev. Dr. Ralph C. Robinson, expressed concern at "the statistical evidence of a slow growth" in the synod's membership through its first 20 years. The average yearly growth, he reported, was 1.44 per cent in baptized members, 1.05 per cent in confirmed members, 1.46 per cent in communing members and .41 per cent in Sunday school members.

The evidence of material growth, he said, reveals "the brighter side of the picture" and (Continued On Page 4)

COUNCIL VOTES $500 TO STUDY TOWN PLANNING

The Gettysburg Town Council at its June meeting Monday evening voted $500 for a study of town zoning and heard that a Gettysburg Planning Commission may be put into being by next month.

Council had a three-page report from Burgess Wilbur L. Plank, largely on the subject of town planning. A letter from the burgess asked the initial appropriation of funds to finance early stages of the study.

In his report Burgess Plank recommended a study and correlation of all local ordinances having to do with zoning. He recommended a study of building codes of other towns of comparable size and said he already has copies of many such codes covering zoning, building, housing and trailer codes.

The burgess suggested further that a study and evaluation be made of the results of the traffic survey conducted here two years ago by the state. He urged that action "to relieve the present traffic congestion and to help local businesses to capitalize on, rather than be penalized by, the increase in the number of tourists expected by the increase in the number of tourists expected here from now on until the 100th anniversary in 1863."

Fears Bypass

The burgess also urged council to confer with state highway and federal officials in connection with possible bypassing of the town by Route 15. "Our need to act in an effort to obtain consideration in the location of the bypass is urgent. It may or may not be too late." He suggested that his recommendations should be undertaken by a reorganized planning commission "to be appointed as soon as possible."

Council voted the Gettysburg Fire Company $1,580 to be used to (Continued On Page 4)

Three Couples Are Licensed To Marry

Marriage licenses have been issued to three couples at the office of the clerk of the courts here. They are: Lloyd Melvin Boyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold M. Boyer, East Berlin R. 1, and Sandra Elizabeth Inskip, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thurman Inskip, Hampton.

Lowell Dayhoff Gardenhour, son of Mr. and Mrs. Allen J. Gardenhour, Waynesboro, and Barbara Ruth Witherow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William W. Witherow, 55 W. High St.

School Directors Re-Elect Officials

The Gettysburg National Bank and Brown, Swope and MacPhail were re-elected as treasurer and solicitors, respectively, for the Gettysburg School Board for the next year at the monthly meeting of the board in Superintendent H. Edgar Riegle's office at the high school Monday evening.

Ray J. Kitzmiller, president, presided at the 20-minute meeting with all members present. The board passed a resolution certifying a list of names to be added to the duplicate for the 1958 school tax. Bills totaling $184 were approved. The treasurer's report showed a balance on May 2 of $89,837.25. Disbursements for the past month totaled $690.91, leaving a balance on May 29 of $89,146.34.

D. A. MARCH, 94, FORMER BANKER, TEACHER, DIES

Daniel Amos March, 94, Adams County native who was a former school teacher and retired banker at East Berlin, died this morning at 4:40 o'clock in the Hanover Hospital where he had been a patient since last Friday. Infirmities of age caused death.

Mr. March, a son of the late Christian and Emmeline (Stambaugh) March, was born in the Pine Run area.

He taught school for 10 years in this county and then operated a hardware store in East Berlin until the Peoples State Bank was established there and he became its first teller. He retired from that position about 25 years ago.

Services Thursday

Mr. March was a member of Trinity Church of Christ of Hanover and of the East Berlin Fire Company. His wife, the former Clara Hartman, died November 7, 1924.

Surviving are four children: Mrs. C. C. Culp of Gettysburg; Charles C. March, Hanover; Mrs. E. J. J. Gobrecht, Hanover; and Mrs. Joseph W. Dutera, New Oxford, a second grade teacher in the Meade school here. There are eight grandchildren and 18 great-grandchildren. One brother also survives, Nevyn W. March, Gettysburg.

Funeral services from the Bucher Funeral Home in Hanover Thursday morning at 10 o'clock with his pastor, the Rev. Dr. Howard Shively, officiating. Interment in Mt. Olive Cemetery, Abbotstown. Friends may call Wednesday evening at the funeral home from 7 to 9 o'clock.

41 PLEADED, 17 CONVICTED HERE IN LAST MONTH

More than half of the 71 defendants before the Adams county court on criminal charges during the May term entered pleas of guilty or "no defense," according to the quarterly report made by Clerk of Courts Kenneth Johns to the state department of welfare.

Forty-one entered pleas, 17 were found guilty by the court, six were found guilty by juries, three cases were dismissed, one defendant was acquitted by the court and four were acquitted by juries.

The list of cases during the period included four manslaughter, one robbery, two aggravated assault, two minor assault, one burglary, one larceny, two auto theft, three embezzlement, one forgery, three morals offenses, one carrying deadly weapons, 14 non-support, three liquor law violations, nine driving while under the influence of intoxicants, eight other motor vehicle laws, three disorderly conduct and 14 other offenses.

Only Three Dismissed

Three cases, against a person charged with forgery, a non-support charge and one motor code violation, were dismissed. The court acquitted one of the persons charged with "other offenses."

Defendants in three manslaughter cases were acquitted by juries, as was one of the defendants charged with minor assault.

Among the 41 entering pleas were one charged with robbery, two (Continued On Page 9)

START SUIT HERE

A complaint in an action in assumpsit has been filed at the court house here by Brown, Swope and MacPhail as counsel for the White Rose Motors, Inc., York, against Eugene I. and Charlotte E. Chronister, Dillsburg R. 2. The claim is for $6,319 said to be owing on a Cadillac car together with interest since last January 6 and $150 per day storage for the car since January 17.

President Pleased With Colleges Where "Faith In Our God Is Put At The Very Cornerstone Of All That We Hope To Achieve"; Receives Degree At Mt. St. Mary's

Archbishop Keough of Baltimore (right), proudly presents an honorary Doctor of Laws degree to President of the United States Dwight D. Eisenhower at the 150th commencement of Mt. St. Mary's College, Emmitsburg, Tuesday morning. Msgr. Sheridan, president of the college (center), beams approvingly.

Ike Fulfills Ambition To Visit Mount

The following is the complete text of the address delivered Monday morning at the 150th commencement exercises at Mount St. Mary's College, Emmitsburg, by President Eisenhower:

Archbishop Keough, Governor McKeldin, Msgr. Sheridan, Faculty, Students and Guests of Mount St. Mary's College:

Today I fulfill a long-held ambition. Since 1918 when I was assigned command of a camp in Gettysburg, Pennsylvania, I have been traveling this road just beyond the front of this college, and never before have I had the opportunity to come in and meet its personnel, to see inside, know what you feel, and learn of the spirit of the people here.

And before I proceed further, may I take the opportunity to congratulate you men of this graduating class. I want to make special mention of the young Marine officers now just entering their commissions. I am very proud of that chorus and I am grateful for their courtesy in singing two of the songs which have been part of West Point for many years.

Interested In College

I am interested in this college for a number of reasons. One of them is some of the things that have been told me about its founding. I hear that Father Dubois came to this country with an introduction from Lafayette. It seems to me there was a certain symbolism in that a great champion of freedom collaborated with a great educator.

This was carried on, this symbolism, in a further adventure in Father Dubois' life when he was taught English by Patrick Henry. Again friendship, traditions of learning and freedom were symbolized in their union.

Then in the year 1808 when Father Dubois opened the doors of this college, the United States had just closed the doors to the importation of slaves to this country. And again it would seem to me there is a symbolism if not merely a fortunate coincidence between these two events.

"A Frontier Institute"

Now the most significant of all of these facts of Mount St. Mary's early history was the fact that it was a frontier institute. I am told that Father Dubois built a log cabin and here in the setting of mountain scenery opened his college. And from that day it has grown and prospered. He exemplified, and certainly his students exemplified, those qualities that have meant so much to America. Indeed, they have seemed to be characteristic (Continued On Page 6)

"Our Finest Hour"

"This is our finest hour," said Rt. Rev. Msgr. John L. Sheridan, P.A., president of Mount St. Mary's College, in his address of welcome to President Eisenhower at the 150th commencement of the Emmitsburg, Md., institution, Tuesday morning.

President Sheridan said:

"The 150 - year history of this proud little college is studded with the names of great men and the records of great events. Yet, I dare say that this commencement, the climax of our sesquicentennial celebration, is our finest hour."

"You graduates are fortunate indeed, for this occasion. Instead he honors you and us by his presence here — one of the small, unheralded colleges of the nation."

"This will be a day you will long treasure. We mountaineers have a motto, handed down to us by our founder, the saintly Dubois: 'Have faith and you can do anything.' Today you will listen to a man whose creed is Dubois' creed — a Mountaineer creed. He has faced the storms of history's darkest hour — confidently, with head high and unflinching belief that our cause would triumph. He has insisted time and again over a lifetime of successful endeavor that what we believe in, we can do; that there are no hopeless causes, only men who have grown hopeless about them. For wisdom tells him that faith marches at the head of the army of progress; that it is the keystone of the most refined life, the freest government, the profoundest philosophy, the noblest poetry, the purest humanity."

"To the President of the United States, Dwight D. Eisenhower, who by his presence honors us today, on behalf of the administration, the faculty, the alumni and the students of Mount St. Mary's college, I extend greetings and our profound gratitude."

Hodges' College Valedictory Is Declared "The Best I Ever Heard" By President Eisenhower

"It's the best college valedictory I ever heard," said President Dwight D. Eisenhower after Charles E. Hodges, of Nanticoke, Pa., delivered the valedictory address at the 150th commencement of Mt. St. Mary's College, Emmitsburg, Tuesday morning.

Hodges' address follows:

The class of 1958 leaves college in a unique atmosphere. We are on trial — the products of an educational system which has been questioned. Our generation has been given various labels, not the kind of which are "beat" and "slut." We have been judged and found wanting, analyzed and declared inadequate.

Today I am given the opportunity to speak, not only for my classmates, but also for thousands of graduates throughout the nation. And I submit that we have been underestimated.

"Hopeful Confidence"

Though we have inherited the problems our critics say are insoluble, we are not heirs to their lack of courage and bleakness of spirit. We do not speak with the brush optimism of untold youth, but with the hopeful confidence and assurance that come with the full realization of our own dignity, the dignity of what we have been taught, the dignity of what we will be.

"I can see no limits to the possibilities of this type of college, where faith in our God is put at the very cornerstone of all that we hope to achieve—all America, or any one of us individually," said President Dwight D. Eisenhower, 34th President of the United States, in his address at the 150th commencement of Mt. St. Mary's College, Emmitsburg, Tuesday morning.

"... I am particularly touched by the thoughtfulness of the authorities in making me an honorary doctor of laws in this institution ... and I hope that the future will give me the chance, now and then, to see my fellow graduates."

Climax Of Convocation

This was the climax of the closing convocation of the sesquicentennial observance of Mount St. Mary's College, Emmitsburg, Md., second oldest Catholic college in America, Tuesday noon.

It was the largest attended, the most colorful and the most significant observance at the Emmitsburg school during its 150 years of existence.

The President and Mrs. Eisenhower were roundly cheered as they entered the large gymnasium and were received by Rt. Rev. Msgr. John L. Sheridan, president of the Mount, and His Excellency, the Most Reverend Francis P. Keough, D.D., archbishop of Baltimore. Thereafter the jam-packed auditorium took advantage of every opportunity to cheer the Chief Executive.

Prior to his arrival the United States Marine band played a number of selections and when President Eisenhower started up the aisle to the rostrum the band broke out with "Hail To The Chief," under the direction of Major Albert S. Schoepfer, director.

The audience rose and started applauding immediately. He and Mrs. Eisenhower were accompanied by Msgr. Sheridan, Archbishop Keough and an honor guard. All of the other platform guests had been seated prior to the President's arrival.

After the guests of honor had been escorted to their rostrum chairs a Marine Corps color guard posted the colors to the accompaniment of martial airs by the Marine Band. The four Marines (Continued On Page 3)

ACCIDENT TOLL ON AREA ROADS LOWER THAN '57

Ten persons have been killed, 73 injured, and damage has totaled $96,334 in 123 automobile accidents investigated by state police of the local substation during the first five months of this year.

The recapitulation of the activities of the officers during May, released today by Sgt. Joseph A. Tappe, commanding officer of the substation, shows that motorists during the period have set a better record, accident-wise than during the corresponding period of last year.

During the first five months of 1957 there were 136 accidents in which 11 persons were killed, 78 injured and property damage totaled $124,465.

During May there were 24 auto accidents investigated by state police in which one person was killed, 14 were injured and damage totaled $17,395. During May of last year there were 27 accidents in which 15 persons were hurt and damage totaled $14,615. During April of this year there were 20 accidents in which three persons were killed, 16 were hurt and damage totaled $15,900.

148 Arrests In May

In the continuing attempt to keep the highways safe, the officers made 148 arrests in the month on charges of failing to obey the traffic laws. Those charges brought to 733 the number of traffic code arrests filed by the officers during the first five months of this year.

With 349 patrols logged during May, the officers have made 1,718 patrols so far this year, traveling 155,185 miles in the course of their duties, including 32,530 miles during the last month.

The officers, in addition to their traffic duties, made nine investigations on criminal charges during the month bringing to 70 the number of criminal charge investigations made during 1958.

During the month the officers spent 1,457 hours on traffic duty, 442 hours on criminal investigations, 1,187 hours on station duty and 363 hours on special assignment including 14 state department investigations.

TOWN BALANCE BOLSTERED BY TAX RECEIPTS

With more than $10,000 received from Tax Collector J. Herbert Weikert and with $14,384 deposited from cashing U. S. government bonds, Gettysburg borough finances were looking up Monday evening in monthly reports presented to the June meeting of council.

The general borough account showed a balance May 31 of $21,721 and there was $2,217 from parking meters last month not included in that figure.

Expenditures last month totaled $10,834 and brought the spending for the first five months of the year up to $44,593. Total spending this month is likely to be higher than for May because of action taken Monday evening by council.

Burgess Chief Reported

The councilmen authorized a payment of $5,830 for the lot on E. Middle St. they decided last month to buy from Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy E. Smith. The amount represents a $5,500 price on the land plus interest from the date of the option the town had held.

Council also authorized payment of $500 as the town's share of the $30,461 traffic survey conducted by the state here two years ago.

The monthly report of Burgess Wilbur Plank showed $360 collected in parking permits, $122 from 13 building permits, $107 from a digging permit, $297 in theater tax, $1 for a guide's license and $5 for an underground tank permit. The 18 building permits issued last month represented construction costs of $203,545, his report showed.

The May report from Chief of Police Jack Bartlett showed three criminal arrests, 17 traffic violations, six accidents investigated and 218 complaints received. Seventeen escorts were provided. There was one missing person report and six lost articles were reported.

Bethel Church To Hold Bible School

The Daily Vacation Bible School, conducted by the Bethel Mennonite Church, Biglerville Rd., is planned for June 16 to 27.

The school sessions will begin each morning, Monday through Friday, from the two weeks at 8:30 and dismiss at 11:30. There will be two kindergarten grades and also the regular school grades one through ten. Each grade will study different materials. A workbook is made available to each pupil.

The teachers have been chosen from the Bethel Church. Rev. Willis L. Breckbill will serve as superintendent, Earl Schmidt as assistant superintendent, and Mrs. Arthur Musselman will be in charge of the music.

Transportation will be provided for children in the community, either by automobiles or school bus. Anyone wishing to have children attend should telephone the Rev. Mr. Breckbill, Biglerville 17-M.

Posts $500 Bail On Assault Count

Reno Eyler, Emmitsburg, was arrested Monday by Constable Fred Swisher on a charge of assault and battery filed by William Brawner, Emmitsburg R. 3, before Justice of the Peace John H. Baschore. The alleged fight occurred in Freedom Twp. at a service station according to the report.

Eyler posted $500 bail and was released from jail pending a hearing Wednesday evening before Justice Baschore.

Cars Collide In Intersection Here

Damage totaled $250 at 9:40 o'clock this morning when George B. Hughes, 16, Guernsey, driving south on Steinwehr Ave., struck the end of a car driven north from the Taneytown Rd. into S. Washington St. by Paul D. Wadell, Dyess AFB, Texas, police reported.

Both drivers told police their vision was obstructed at the intersection by a large truck parked in a no parking zone on Steinwehr Ave.

Police estimated damage to the Wadell car at $70 and to the Hughes car, $175. The investigation is being continued.

Littlestown 87 PROMOTED IN CEREMONY FOR 6TH GRADE

The tenth annual elementary school promotion exercises were held on Monday evening in the Rolling Acres Elementary School when 87 pupils received certificates of promotion, with the presentations being made by Paul E. King, supervising principal of the Littlestown Joint School System.

Joseph Torchie, associate professor of education at Millersville State Teachers College, was guest speaker, and his message concerned education from the point of view of the child. He said: "This graduation is just as important to the children as any other graduation which might follow. We do not recognize the accomplishment of achievement in the younger children as we should."

Mr. Torchie traced the education of a child from the beginning of formal education, that is, from the first commencement of the child, when he leaves the informal surroundings of the home and graduates to his first formal activities in school; from his role as an individualist until he reaches third grade and becomes interested in social and group standards.

The Parents' Role
"Now is the time," Mr. Torchie noted, "to get ready to choose the courses that will be needed to prepare for one's life work." In answering the question, "What can parents do to help with the education of the child?" the speaker said: "The parent can show an active interest, take time to see what he is doing in school and what is required of him at home; supply the necessary encouragement so that he will do the best work to develop himself to his highest potential; share his problems and assist him to accept and fulfill his responsibility; to the teachers, he said they should learn to know each individual in the classroom so they can help him make the proper adjustment for school life, supply him with basic skills, take an interest in achievement by means of encouragement." To the students he said, "You can be a 'wise guy' — be wise about your health in order to perform the best work at all times; wise about the performance of other members of your class and appreciate what they can do well; wise about the classroom and school, to make it a better place to study; wise about accepting and fulfilling responsibilities; about preparing yourself better today so that you will be able to do your work better tomorrow; wise about what you would like to do in the future, about listening to what your parents and teachers say for they have been young and they know about your problems, wise in all the ways that will benefit you." He concluded with: "Wisdom does not come overnight — whatever you want to be, you have to practice."

Riley Presides
John H. Riley, elementary principal, was master of ceremonies for the occasion and introduced the speaker and other participants on the program as follows: Prelude; processional; invocation, the Rev. G. Howard Koons, pastor of Christ United Church of Christ; "Home and School," talks written and delivered by Gail L. Reindollar and Kenneth B. Crumbacker; vocal ensemble, "A Roundelay," Loomis, composed of the following class members, Deanne L. DeGroot, Betty Lou Sell, Linda A. Frock, M. Jean Gentzler, Janice A. King, Linda R. Knipple, Ann E. Kroh and Marilyn J. Miller; "Church and Community," talks written and presented by A. Catherine Study and Lowry M. Close; flute solo, "To A Wild Rose," MacDowell, Ann Kroh; original poems by Sandra Lee Arter, Patricia A. Harner, and Earl T. Strausbaugh.

Presentation of the American Legion Auxiliary award went to Linda R. Knipple, made by Mrs. Ray T. Harner, of the auxiliary, who read the certificate, and Mrs. Ivan D. Rickorde, auxiliary president, who pinned on the medal. Linda is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. Richard Knipple, Lumber St. Presentation of the American Legion award was made to Donald A. Bair by Beaven F. Hanlon, representing the Legion. Donald is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Theron Bair, Littlestown R. 2. Recipients of the awards are chosen on the basis of honor, courage, scholarship, leadership and service.

Certificates For 61
Sixty-one members of the class received handwriting certificates, awarded to Floyd Parks, of the Peterson System of Directed Handwriting, Greenburg; address; presentation of diplomas and remarks by Mr. King; class song, "Song of Destiny," words adapted; benediction by the Rev. Mr. Koons. Mrs. Elmira S. Deardorff, of the joint faculty, was accompanist for the evening.

Snoobs, by any definition . . . are the ones who think they're great . . . their distasteful mannerisms . . . are most hard to estimate . . . they are the ones who try to set . . . themselves a world apart . . . from all the ordinary streams . . . endearing to each heart . . . for them the best is none too good . . . and they will not take less . . . to them the average part of life . . . is like a wilderness . . . some say that fame and fortune is . . . the cause of how they act . . . others state that heritage . . . does much to seal the pact . . . snobs to me are living lies . . . with pride they are adorned . . . but though we should beware of them . . . they are more to be pitied than scorned.

PINES SERVICES HELD SATURDAY

"Our departed are not dead, only one step ahead, helping Jesus, our personal Saviour, to get ready for our homecoming," Claude O. Meckley, Hanover, told an audience of more than 1,000 persons Saturday evening in his address at the annual memorial services at the Pine Lutheran Church cemetery.

"Jesus promised life after death and Jesus fulfilled his promise when he stepped out of his borrowed tomb," he continued and then reviewed the history and purpose of Memorial Day in this nation. He quoted Lincoln's words at Gettysburg and then said: "Never a war of aggression but always a war to defend our mothers and children. However, we broke faith with God and Lincoln when we dropped the atomic bomb on Nagasaki and Hiroshima. Instead of putting our trust in the unconquerable hand of Almighty God, we are trying to outpace all other nations in the implements of war. I believe in national defense but I also know Father God is on the side of right. If God could stop the flight of the sun to give his chosen people more time to defeat their enemies in Canaan, the God I know and worship will take care of his deserving children."

Mr. Meckley spoke after the traditional strewing of the flowers. Music was furnished by the New Oxford High School band. Presiding over the exercises as master of ceremonies was Elvin Harner.

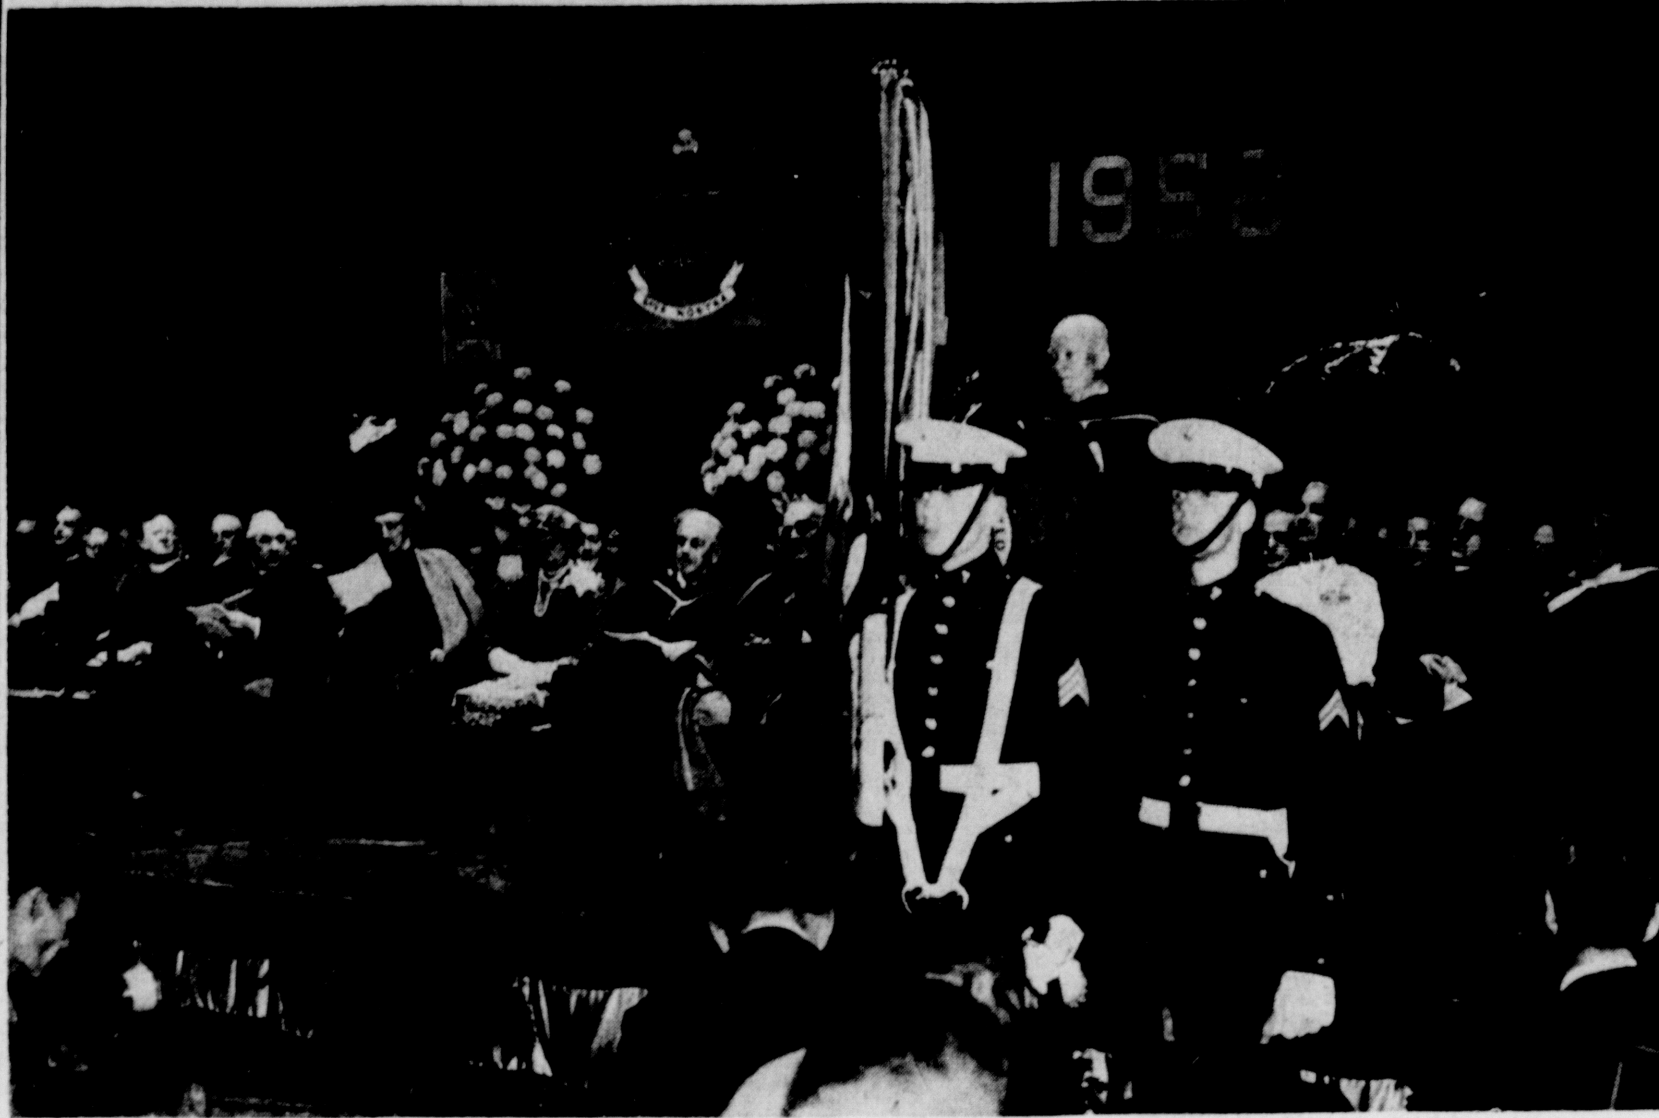

Women of the church served supper during the afternoon and evening and a festival was held with a band concert in the evening.

then took positions at each side and to the front of the rostrum and stood at rigid attention throughout the hour long program.

Mrs. Eisenhower was radiant and smiled a return greeting to the cheers for her husband and herself. She wore a white lace hat, steel gray silk suit, white gloves and white slippers. She wore a double-strand of pearls with pearl earrings and carried a corsage of white orchids and a large white summer bag.

Bishop Retrieves Gloves
Once during the exercises Mrs. Eisenhower dropped her white gloves unknowingly. Bishop George L. Leech, of the Harrisburg Diocese, who was seated near her, immediately picked them up and gave them to Mamie.

Following the playing and singing of the National Anthem and the invocation by Archbishop Keough, Msgr. Sheridan delivered a brief address of welcome to the President. (The full text is published elsewhere in this edition.) The seniors then received their degrees. They had entered the auditorium ahead of the President and were seated at the front on the right side of the main aisle. They rose and moved to the right side of the platform and placed their hoods over their shoulders and as their names were called, walked across the platform, knelt and kissed the ring of Archbishop Keough who congratulated them and then presented them in turn to the President.

Msgr. Sheridan handed the degree to the President who presented it to each graduate and smiling broadly congratulated each in turn.

Six Are Commissioned
The audience withheld its applause until all had received their degrees. Charles E. Hodges then delivered his brief valedictory address. (It is published elsewhere in this edition).

Six members of the graduating class, wearing white Marine Corps uniforms, then received commissions in the Corps from Brigadier General Edward A. Montgomery. They were: Joseph Francis Bushey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bushey, Fairfield Rd.; Robert Joseph Cullen; John Louis Flickinger; Edward Alexander Montgomery, son of the General and John George Pally III.

The college glee club, under the direction of Rev. Fr. David W. Shaum, then sang two popular West Point songs, favorites of the President, "The Corps," by Harling, and "Army Blue" arranged by Mayer. James R. Kleindienst was the tenor soloist.

For the singing of the second stanza of the second number, the choir members turned to the President and as they hummed, Kleindienst sang the solo. The President and Mamie were visibly pleased and applauded generously.

Receives Degree
President Eisenhower was then presented with the degree of Doctor of Laws, honoris causa, by Archbishop Keough and Msgr. Sheridan slipped the hood, emblematic of the degree, over his shoulders.

The President then delivered the commencement address. He expressed his thanks and appreciation to the glee club and its director for singing his favorite West Point selections and he told Charles E. Hodges, valedictorian, that his address was the best college valedictory he had ever heard.

After the benediction by Archbishop Keough, the United States Marine Band played the recessional and President and Mrs. Eisenhower left the rostrum. The crowd remained standing until they had left the building.

Other Guests
Among the distinguished guests on the rostrum were: Governor and Mrs. Theodore R. McKeldin; Senator and Mrs. J. Glenn Beall; Mayor Thomas D'Alessandro, Baltimore; Most Rev. Jerome D. Sebastian, auxiliary bishop of Baltimore; the Most Rev. George L. Leech, bishop of Harrisburg; Rt. Rev. Msgr.

Lutheran Mission Office Is Moved

Mrs. Henry T. Bream, Gettysburg, executive director of the West Penn Lutheran Inner Mission operating in the five-county area of Adams, Franklin, Fulton, Cumberland and Perry Counties, announced today that the central office of the LIM has been moved to the two first floor rooms on the east side of the parish house (the former parsonage) of St. James Lutheran Church, York St. Formerly, the central office was in the basement of the church.

The secretary-receptionist, Mrs. Kathryn Finkbner, will receive all visitors to the Lutheran Inner Mission office between 9 a.m. to 12 noon, and 1 to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday. Referrals will be accepted during the regular office hours or evenings and weekends by appointment only.

Area offices of the Inner Mission are also maintained in St. Paul Lutheran Church, Carlisle, and First Lutheran Church, Chambersburg. Contacts at these offices can be made by appointment only.

All correspondence should be addressed to the Gettysburg office — P. O. Box 150. Telephone number is Gettysburg 1325.

COUNCIL OKAYS

had been passed after being read by the borough secretary, Mrs. Anna Dracha, Fidler presented the second measure covering the establishment of unloading zones and the first big discussion of the evening was touched off.

Some councilmen objected to the loss of two to four parking meters on each side of each business block in the business district and predicted complaints from merchants. The actual number of meters to be affected was not determined, some councilmen claiming that four would have to be removed for each loading zone and Burgess Plank said two would be enough. The size and site of the zones would be designated by the highway committee.

The third ordinance that stayed on the books after passage Monday night provides for reservation of parking space by placing hoods over meters. Application must be made to the burgess in writing for such spaces and a charge of 25 cents per hour per meter will be made. Meters have been hooded in the past but there was no provision for income therefrom. Chief Bartlett pointed out that meters were hooded for a total of 750 hours last month.

Urges Municipal Lots

The traffic discussions brought a number of suggestions but none won support. Councilman Philip Jones spoke for municipal parking lots but others pointed out there are now central parking lots not used to capacity. Council Naugle proposed half-hour meters on each corner of the square and the intersection streets to provide stalls with a quick parking turnover.

The motion to rescind the double parking rule came at 9:30 p.m. by Fidler who had proposed the measure earlier. The vote was unanimous.

Councilman Donald Rebert gave council a detailed report on recent Highway and Safety committee meetings on the bus stop problem and said his committee (Highway) wants the buses "to stay where they are for a short period of time rather than shove them out of town."

He said bus representatives said their charters permit driving only one block off through routes to reach terminals and that none of the companies was willing to return to the old location on N. Washington St. No facilities other than the Shelter House have been found on the main routes, Rebert said, and if they cannot use that stop they will go out of town to a gas station, flag stop arrangement.

President H. M. Oyer said he has had numerous phone calls and letters urging that the buses be kept in town. One councilman said Gettysburg College has asked that the buses be kept here as an accommodation to the students. Councilman Glenn Guise said the bus companies, particularly the Greyhound, spends thousands of dollars annually on travel promotion by which Gettysburg benefits.

Rebert expressed the opinion that to deprive the buses of a stop here "would be setting the town back a long way." President Oyer was willing for the buses to stay in Gettysburg but held it is not council's responsibility to find quarters for them.

"Bulldozed Council"
Rebert hinted that pending arrangements may provide a new stop for Greyhound but it would be off the chartered course for the other lines. He said an offer had been made to use only three meter spaces instead of the present four at the Shelter House Bus company regulations prevent idling motors for stops of more than three minutes.

David Garfinkle, Chambersburg St., told council buses stand there as long as three hours and declared: "The bus companies have bulldozed council into giving them space."

Under an old ordinance giving the Highway committee authority to set up bus stops in town, the committee's decision was not tampered with by council.

President Oyer presided at the meeting which adjourned at 10:20 o'clock. All members were present but Councilman Jones left before adjournment.

ST. JOSEPH'S ACADEMY HOLDS COMMENCEMENT

The Rev. Leo A. Bierschmitt, director of the propagation of the faith for the Diocese of Harrisburg, delivered the commencement address at exercises at St. Joseph's Academy, McSherrystown, Sunday afternoon.

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Patrick F. McGee, pastor of the Church of the Annunciation of the Blessed Virgin Mary, presided and made the following awards:

Bishop Leech Medal for religion to Miss Jacqueline A. Staub, Hanover; honorable mention, Miss Mary F. Smith, McSherrystown; St. Joseph's Academy Medal for general excellence to Miss Geraldine C. Lawrence, McSherrystown; honorable mention, Miss Staub; St. Joseph's Academy Alumnae Medal for character and loyalty to Miss Barbara A. Wise, Hanover; honorable mention, Miss Lawrence.

Catholic University of America diplomas were awarded to Miss Mary B. Gallagher, Aurora, Ill.; Miss Lawrence; Miss Constance E. Rebert, Hanover; Miss Smith and Miss Staub.

Miss Lawrence, valedictorian, spoke on "The Dignity of Womanhood." Miss Rebert was the salutatorian.

Glee Club Sings

The glee club, directed by Paul F. Worcester, sang "Laudate Dominum" by Gounod; "To a Wild Rose," McDowell and "I'll Walk With God," by Brodsky. Accompanists were Miss Alma Farne and Miss Irene Webster, Miss Mary C. Pessagno, Baltimore, and a member of the graduating class, sang "Il Bacio," by Ardit.

Other members of the class in addition to those mentioned are Miss Geraldine A. Benedict, New Cumberland; Miss Jane T. Bonaccorsi, Drexel Hill, and Miss Leita R. Myers, McSherrystown. A baccalaureate mass was celebrated in the chapel at 8 a.m. Sunday by Msgr. McGee. During the mass the choir sang a group of hymns requested by the graduates.

The annual Class Day tea was held Saturday at 5 p.m. on the campus. After a catered luncheon farewell speeches were delivered by the seniors, after which they read the class history, prophecy and will. Mother Miriam Loretto, principal, then presented awards and prizes.

PITTSBURGH (AP)—West Catholic High School of Philadelphia took first place in seven events to win the second annual Knights of Columbus State Catholic Track and Field championship Saturday. The Philadelphia team compiled 52½ points. The meet was held in suburban Mount Lebanon. Central Catholic of Pittsburgh was second with 29½ points. Indiana was third with 14 points.

David Garfinkle, Chambersburg St., told council buses stand there as long as three hours and declared: "The bus companies have bulldozed council into giving them space."

Under an old ordinance giving the Highway committee authority to set up bus stops in town, the committee's decision was not tampered with by council.

President Oyer presided at the meeting which adjourned at 10:20 o'clock. All members were present but Councilman Jones left before adjournment.

Out Of The Past

From the Files of the Star and Sentinel and
The Gettysburg Times
FIFTY YEARS AGO

Memorial Day: Gettysburg, the objective point of many on Memorial Day, was visited by a fairly good crowd on Saturday.
The treacherous and drizzly weather of the morning prevented many from coming, who otherwise would have attended. There were seven excursions over the Western Maryland from various points while the regular trains on the Reading road carried many passengers.

The parade formed on Chambersburg street, the right reeling on Centre Square, and moved promptly at 1:30 o'clock. Lieut.
Wm. A. McIlhenny was Chief Marshal and Dr. Henry Stewart assistant. Three volleys were fired in the Diamond by the York Cadets prior to the moving of the procession.

Following is the formation:
Citizens band of Gettysburg; Sons of Veterans and visiting Cadets of York; orator of the day, U. S.
Senator Philander C. Knox, and guests, in carriages. Patriotic and Civic Organizations, visiting posts of G.A.R., Corporal Skelly Post
No. 9, G.A.R., and ex-soldiers.

Immediately after the exercises
Senator Knox, Congressman La-
fean, S. S. Lewis and Mr. Baker left in an automobile for York.
A new feature of this occasion, and one which added beauty and inspired the hearts of all, was the waving of a small flag on each of the 3,640 graves of the dead. It was the first time in the history of the cemetery that this was done and it certainly added to the appropriateness of the day.

Found Relics: Cleveland Miller, while digging a ditch on Stein-waller avenue last Friday for the purpose of laying gas pipes, unearthed a 12-pound Parrott Shell
in front of John Hess' residence.
Levi Bushman living at the toll gate below the Evergreen Cemetery found a solid 12-pound shot in his barn yard one day last week.

Local Miscellany: The Civic Club has placed substantial debris receptacles at various points in town. Citizens and others should see that they are used properly.

The students at college, being dissatisfied by reason of being denied a holiday on Ascension Day raised considerable racket Wednesday night. They rang the bell at midnight and serenaded President Hefelbower in a boisterous manner.

Another Destructive Storm: Another electrical storm of more than ordinary ferocity visited this section Thursday evening about 8:30 o'clock, doing considerable damage in Gettysburg and adjoining territory. The rain, interspersed with hail, came down in torrents.
The G. and H. Engine house, which has stood the storms of many summers, fell a victim to the fierce gale, being blown to the ground.

J. D. Kelly, coal dealer of this place; Lawrence Kump and David Bingaman, of Cumberland Twp.,
had gone into the house for shelter.
They discovered the building shaking and hurried for the doors.
They had scarcely gotten out when the structure went down in a heap.
In making their escape both Kump and Bingaman lost their hats. It was a narrow escape for the three men.

High School Alumni Banquet:
The Gettysburg High School Alumni Association banquet, which is always a pleasure and success, was held at the Eagle Hotel Friday night and was attended by a large number.

Prior to feasting a business meeting was held when the following officers were elected: Pres., John Zinn; V. Pres., John Sachs; Secretary, Nellie Thorn; Treas., Roger Musselman.

Free Dispensary: The State Department of Health's Adams county dispensary for tuberculosis which has been opened in the Brinkerhoff building, Baltimore street, will play an important part in stamping out consumption in our district.

Today's Talk

ALWAYS THE BEST

What a satisfaction for any of us to end the day with the feeling that we have done our very best!
Many years ago I proposed to myself that I make it a plan of life to see that I tried to improve any work I might be engaged in, and make that idea a permanent one.
I feel that it has helped me and been a gaining idea for all concerned. No matter how small a job, my plan was to do the work of that job better than it had ever been done before.

There are at least two different feelings of tiredness. One to come to the end of a day happily tired, with the satisfaction of having done the work of the day — work that had to be done, but work that wasn't exactly what we would choose. William James suggested that each day, however, we should,
for sheer discipline, do something that we would rather not do! We can actually give up more than we have any idea of being able to.

If we always do our best, we will have nothing to worry about.
And if we have nothing to worry about we should be very happy, though tired. There are others who are unhappily tired, and they are the ones who need rest and quiet in the garden of the mind. Our attitude of mind has everything to do with the state of our nerves and the workings of our many organs of health. We can will to do far more than we think we can.
We can make our work inspiring and uplifting. Nothing in this world is so healthfully stimulating as to be engaged in work that you like and in which you can take pride.
No matter how you look at it, mere working because you have to can bring little happiness. Excel yourself!

GLAD SONGS
Sing me a song of gladness,
Sing me no song of woe;
Life has enough of sadness;
Let all your dirges go.
Cheer me with merry laughter,
Rouse me with songs of glee;
Leave for the long hereafter
Wailing and misery.

Never a song bird singing
Out in the apple tree
Wastes ever a moment singing
A sorrowful melody.
Always the notes are cheery,
Always his songs are glad.
Sing not your dirges dreary;
Sing me no song that sad's.

For life has enough of weeping,
And life has enough of rain,
And many a soul is keeping
A grief that's akin to pain.
So sing not a song of sorrow
That starts up our tears again,
But sing of the bright tomorrow
And gladden the hearts of men.

HARSHMAN IS BEATEN AGAIN
ON FREE RUNS

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Jack Harshman, Baltimore's big left-hander, is the only pitcher in the American League with six consecutive complete games at the moment—yet he's lost four in a row, half of 'em because of unearned runs.

The corseted southpaw (he has a bad back) who won his first five decisions, was knocked off again Monday night at Baltimore when the Washington Senators scored an unearned run in the 10th for a 2-1 decision. That dropped Harshman's record to 5-4 and plunked the Orioles back into the cellar while the Senators tied idle
Detroit for sixth.

A southpaw with a streak also figured in the only other American League game scheduled Monday night, with Whitey Ford tying an AL record with six consecutive strikeouts while winning his fifth straight and his first shutout in two years as the New York Yankees defeated the Chicago White Sox 3-0.

3rd Straight For N. Y.
It was the third straight success for the Yanks, upping their lead to seven games over Kansas City, while dumping the Sox to fourth and extending their scoreless inning string to 22.

Cincinnati whipped Pittsburgh
8-2 in the only National League game scheduled.
Roy Sievers, cracking Goose Gosselin's all-time Washington home run record of 127, tagged Harsh-man for his eighth homer of the season in the fourth.

Gave Up 7 Hits
Harshman gave up seven hits and walked three while striking out 11—matching New York's Bob Turley for the AL strikeout lead with 3.

Three home runs, two by Hank Bauer and the other by Mickey Mantle, gave Ford all the edge
he needed while winning his fourth in a row from the White Sox since last July. Whitey gave up seven hits, walked four and struck out 10 for a 6-2 record with his first shutout since May 28, 1956.

Young Fullmer To Meet Old Pro Miceli

WEST JORDAN, Utah (AP)—
Jay Fullmer makes his television debut here Wednesday night against Joe Miceli of New York in a 10-round welterweight bout.
The fight will be staged outdoors in the West Jordan Stadium (ABC-TV, 9 p.m. EST).
Jay, younger brother of former middleweight champion Gene Fullmer, has had only 13 pro fights and only one 10-round bout.
But the 21-year-old copper worker hopes for a successful hometown debut against big time competition.

Miceli, a onetime ranked welterweight, has a 56-31-7 record.
He beat Karl Heinz-Guder in his last fight in Hollywood March 8.

ASPER WAS WINNER

Ronnie Asper, VFW pitcher, instead of Plank was the winning pitcher when the VFW defeated the Exchange Club 17-3 in a Big League game.

DWIGHT DAVID EISENHOWER
President of the United States

Mount Saint Mary's College salutes the first citizen of our nation: a man honored for his unflinching devotion to duty, the uprightness of his life, his selfless dedication to freedom, one who has been the shield of the Republic, renowned alike on the battlefield and in the public forum, whose deeds shine forth for all to see and rightly acclaim.

DWIGHT DAVID EISENHOWER
As once you forged the most perfect alliance of nations in the world's history for the salvation and vindication of democracy in the greatest of world wars, so now, at the sacrifice of personal tranquility, with the full measure of your strength, you labor to reap the fruits of that crusade both at home and abroad. Even so.

President of the United States
yours has always been the soldier's way, where personal interest bows to public need. You have ever sought the greatest good for all the people.
You have been the true patriot and, in our time, "first in war, first in peace, and first in the hearts of your countrymen."

You have never run with the stream,
but have stood a modern colossus against petty aims and mean ambition. You have held the flag aloft in the dark night of war and the dreary day of its aftermath. Amid the anxieties of the present, you have helped weave those ties of respect and affection which bind the nations of the free world in strong alliance.

As a fitting climax of the celebration of the one hundred fiftieth anniversary of our founding, as a mark of our own fervent love of our country and its leader, in grateful acknowledgment of his manifold talents and devotion to the ideals of our country and the rights of our people, we declare and proclaim him, the thirty-fourth President of

Bullets Rained Out
At Springfield;
Will Play Today

Gettysburg College and St.
Lawrence played one scoreless inning before a heavy rainstorm wiped out the scheduled doubleheader in the NCAA Eastern Regional College Baseball Tournament Monday at Springfield, Mass.

Today the four teams will go at it again with the Bullets opposing St. Lawrence in the opener while Trinity tangles with Springfield College in the second game. The winners will meet Wednesday for the title.

The Bullets and Larries both threatened in their one-inning
try. Leroy Bream and Captain got singles for Gettysburg. Jack McCracken was tagged for three hits by the Larries, escaping a score when Captain cut loose a perfect throw to nail a runner at the plate as Jack Maloney did a perfect job of blocking the runner. "Chuck" Langer started on the mound for St. Lawrence.

COUNCIL VOTES

buy 1,000 feet of 2½-inch, doublejacketed fire hose. Councilman Naugle said the hose is necessary to bring the supply up to underwriters' specifications.

A bad curb in a center plot on
W. Broadway, reported by Councilman Philip Jones, was ordered repaired.

New Street Lights

New street lights were ordered placed in the first block of W.
Lincoln Ave., near the new girls'
dormitory, in the first block of E.
Barlow St. and at the corner of Sunset and Park Sts.

Councilman Jones reported a bus had discharged passengers from the middle of the street at the Shetter House Monday evening while reserved parking space remained open.

The construction of pavements over the Tiber on N. Stratton
St. was ordered at a cost of about $115,425 by McDermitt Brothers.
Present walks are in bad repair and in danger of collapsing, council was told.

When council was told that Hillcrest street signs are missing, orders were given to have "eight or 10 missing street signs" replaced soon.

At the suggestion of Councilman
M. P. Hartzell council went on record as favoring pending legislation that would give social security benefits to borough firemen and police. Council will write congressmen in that connection.

Install New Pipes

Council gave the "go ahead" on installation of 24-inch pipes on W.
Stevens St. to carry surface water off the college campus. Councilman James Shenk said the cost will be about $840. It will be part of a project in which the college and Donald P. McPherson Jr., a property owner, will be involved.
Necessary replacements in the overhead street decorations were authorized. Six or seven of the flag arrangements are worn out and unusable, council was told. The property committee is to get prices and make the purchase.

Councilmen had an invitation from the Kiwanis Club to attend a discussion of local parking and traffic conditions at a club meeting next Monday evening.

The Police Pension committee is ready to function. Burgess Plank told council. Materials have been gathered for their study, he said.

of America — courage, creativity, and self-reliance. He was indeed a frontiersman.

Now, today, let me say a word to the graduating class. I have no advice to give you but had I felt like doing so I would have immediately changed my mind because I think your young valedictorian has given you all in the way of advice, coupled with determination, courage and spirit and the will to do, that is needed to be spoken from this platform.

By the way, I congratulate you young man by saying it's the best college valedictory I ever heard.

"No More Frontiers"

Now, not long ago I read a little document where a college junior asked a question. "First," he said, "there are no more frontiers, so what is there to crusade about?"

This question almost baffles me, the spirit of that youngster as he uttered it. Personally, I think there are more frontiers to explore, more crusades that need to be waged, than ever before in our history. Merely because we have conquered the rivers and mountains of our country, that we have expanded until there is no more unclaimed land in this great continent, and where indeed in all the world only the Arctic and Antarctic zones seem to offer any great remaining adventure — there is still adventure that is sought and fulfilled only in exploring.

And think of the many things there are to do within the United States: Slum clearance, elimination of sub-standard living conditions, bringing up the education of those where education has been halted along the way, combatting juvenile delinquency, bringing up our children so we do not have to correct crime but to prevent it, to give them the spirit and the belief in the faith of our fathers so that they will not get into miserable juvenile courts because of gangster-like activity.

"Global Struggle"

Then there is the racial problems that each of us must take to his heart, if we believe in the Constitution, if we believe the words of our founding documents, where they say that men are created equal, meaning equal before the law, meaning their equality in every political, legal and economic aspect of their lives. But beyond the crusades that will have to be waged for many long years before all these problems are solved is the global struggle. This of course has as its core the struggle between atheistic communism and every kind of free government which has its true roots in a deeply-felt religious faith. Since if we believe in human dignity, the value of the individual's soul, if we believe in every right which our founders said was given to us by our Creator, then we must hold fast to the conviction that this struggle of ours is truly a combat against this atheistic doctrine.

"Awakening Of Peoples"

But more than just the statement of this world struggle, think of this: Think of the mass awakening of peoples throughout the globe,

Archbishop Keough, of Baltimore, is the last to say goodbye to President and Mrs. Eisenhower after the 150th commencement exercises at Mt. St. Mary's College, Emmitsburg, Tuesday.

newly-founded nations, people who have been denied all the opportunities of you young gentlemen in every kind of economic activity and opportunity, everything in the way of education, spiritual development. They are trying to catch up with the twentieth century overnight. For five thousand years many of them have made no progress.

And so, since the United States realizes that freedom and liberty are one and indivisible, we cannot ourselves enjoy them if we deny them to someone else. Then we understand what our responsibility is to all this great awakening mass of people: To make certain that they do not fall into immense dislocations and strange misunderstandings.

America recognizes its need to help these people. We have tried to do so. Much has been done, not always wisely, but always with a good heart. And every person in this room has contributed to that help.

We need to do more.

"America Not Isolated"

Today I think it is a truism, that most of us recognize and clearly appreciate, to say: America can no longer be isolated. It is part of the world. It must behave as it carries forward its part, in the beliefs, in the convictions, in the faiths that are America.

If we don't do that, then we will be failures in the world and this glorious civilization of ours will indeed decline.

Now let me read to you a short extract from a newspaper account that illustrates the depths of the misunderstanding in some of these countries.

This is an article written by a man who had been traveling in Nepal, a little kingdom on the northern border of India.

"Motives Seem Obscure"

He said: "The motives of the United States seem obscure even to the better-informed Nepalese. To the more than ninety per cent of the population who can neither read nor write, the American efforts defy all understanding. This unfamiliarity with western ways reflects Nepalese isolation. Before 1950 only 24 Europeans of any nationality had ever penetrated into the capital city, located in the sacred valley, in the heart of the country. Most of these eight million, five hundred thousand Nepalese, many of whom are shepherds or grow rice or jute, have never traveled in a wheeled vehicle of any sort. And although there are believed to be at least twenty million cows in Nepal, more than twice as many as in Texas, they are all sacred and thus of no economic value to the population, most of which lives in extreme poverty."

My friends, there are such tremendous pioneering tasks to undertake today that I believe it

VIOLATION CHARGED

H. S. Reigle, 80, of 401 Main St., McSherrystown, was charged with a stop sign violation before Justice of the Peace William Y. Nail Jr., Hanover, after being involved in an accident Thursday at 2:21 p.m. Police said Reigle, who was driving south on Second Ave., failed to stop for a stop sign and his car crashed into a motorcycle operated by Gary L. Dull, 16, Hanover R. 1. Damage to the Reigle vehicle was estimated at $40.

PLAN CLASS REUNION

Plans have been announced for a reunion of the class of 1953 of Biglerville High School at Fuller Lake Sunday, June 29. Wives, husbands and children are invited to join the class members. Those wishing further information are asked to contact Paul W. W. Slaybaugh, Biglerville 204-R-21.

A new Edsel four-door sedan was damaged to the extent of about $100 Friday afternoon when the driver, John D. Sharp, 40, St. Paul, Minn., parked on Hancock Ave. on the Battlefield near the Bryan House and forgot to pull the emergency brake. The car rolled down a slight incline into a battlefield fence, National Park authorities said today.

is almost safe to say that anyone of your elders here today, if he could have one wish, would be to be joining this class, starting out to see what he could do about it. We must help to get the world forward. We must not get twisted into hatred and violence and destruction of the freedoms that the world seeks.

"What Freedom Means"

Indeed, this problem is so hazy in its outlines and so difficult that we are going to have to teach many people what freedom means before there is any hope that they themselves will want it. This seems difficult to us. We like to live as we live. We like to live as we choose, to speak as we choose, to think as we choose, and earn as we choose — subject to taxes.

They know nothing of what that means. These freedoms that are so precious to us, more precious — Patrick Henry said — than life itself, are not going to be won for them until they understand what freedom is.

So the two great things I should think to crusade for, to simplify the whole matter is: justice at home and abroad, and world peace for all of us.

"Faith In Our God"

One more word. I personally think that the traditions of the religiously-oriented colleges become more and more important. As I pointed out, I believe that the core of the struggle between the free and the despotic world today is that between a religious faith and an atheistic dictatorship.

If that is true, then I can see no limits to the possibilities of this type of college, where faith in our God is put at the very cornerstone of all that we hope to achieve — all America, or any one of us individually.

And so I salute the faculty, the administration, the students and the alumni of Mount St. Mary's College, on this their 150th anniversary. It has been a very great honor and privilege to be here. I am particularly touched by the thoughtfulness of the authorities in making me an Honorary Doctor in this institution. So I shall hope that the future will give me the chance, now and then, to see more of my fellow graduates.

Thank you.

James MARLOW Reports

The Associated Press

WASHINGTON (AP) — At this moment the self-assured Charles de Gaulle's head is high and his stride strong. Nevertheless, he is like a man walking barefooted through a field of broken bottles.

The French air cleared momentarily when he became premier Sunday.

But what may seem to De Gaulle today to be direct and simple solutions for the ills of France may before he's through turn into tortured dilemmas both for him and for his country.

Desperate Compromise
French acceptance of him, on his terms, was a desperate compromise to avoid civil war. He was rammed down the country's throat by a rebellious army. Thus he had to be taken on faith in a hurry: both as to intention and as to judgment.

Although his announced purpose is to preserve the republic — and all he's done has been clothed in legality — he nevertheless has blessed the military chieftains who forced him upon France.

Yet something like this — emergency of a strongman — seemed inevitable. If not De Gaulle, eventually it would have been someone else or the army. French government — or, its parliamentary system — had become a farce and a disgrace.

Assembly Incapable
The all-powerful Assembly, split into factions with each concerned about its own interests, proved incapable of running the country. So De Gaulle's first aim is to reform the government this way: Through a constitutional change

New President For Mother Church

BOSTON, Mass. (AP)—Leonard T. Carney of Boston Monday was named president of the Mother Church, the First Church of Christ Scientist.

His appointment was announced by the Christian Science Board of Directors at the annual meeting of the denomination attended by more than 7,000 Christian Scientists from many parts of the world. He succeeds Miss Mabel Ellen Lucas of Brookline, Mass., and will serve for one year.

A member of the Board of Trustees of the Christian Science Publishing Society, Carney holds degrees from Grinnell College, Iowa, and the Harvard law school. He is a native of Marshalltown, Iowa, and has been authorized to teach Christian Science since 1934. He has been a Christian Science practitioner since 1919.

Roy Garrett Watson and Gordon V. Comer were re-elected treasurer and clerk, respectively.

to make it more like the American system by making the executive branch stronger, the Assembly weaker, thus achieving a greater balance of power. This is one announced intention.

Another is to reach a satisfactory settlement in Algeria, where Moslem nationalists have fought the French army for years to obtain independence. But this is what the French who live in Algeria don't want.

To get things done De Gaulle, who despises politics and political horse-trading, must deal in one way or another with French politicians. One of his first acts was to put leaders of various political parties in his Cabinet.

He almost certainly will have to make political compromises to get some of what he wants. But he is not noted for compromise. And opposition to his acceptance in the first place, while in a minority, is still intense.

Thus there is ready-made opposition to him starting out. As he goes about reforms at home, it is likely the opposition will increase and not diminish. This will be a good test of his faith in democratic practices to get things done.

There is the fear — and there has been since the beginning that once in power he will rely less on democratic processes and more on dictatorship, although he has now indicated he despises the authoritarian role.

To Get Intense Scrutiny
But his worst trouble may come from the army and the extreme right if they feel he is making too much compromise with the left or if he offers an Algerian solution contrary to their desires.

Thus he can expect from the army and the right a scrutiny as intense as the one focused on him by the left. But the effect of his solutions won't be limited to France alone.

For example: If his answer on Algeria pleases the army but infuriates the Moslem world, the West will be faced with the prospect of seeing all North Africa turn to communism or neutralism.

There is so much puzzlement about the French future under De Gaulle that the West can only guess what's next and hope for the best.

VOTERS EYEING PRIMARIES IN CALIFORNIA

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Four states held primary elections today. The biggest spotlight was beamed on California, where Sen. William F. Knowland faced an important popularity test.

Leaders of both major parties were watching California's Republican and Democratic primaries for governor for signs of trends that might have bearing on the 1960 presidential race.

Knowland, who is giving up his role of Senate Republican leader to seek the governorship, admittedly faced a tough battle for ballots with Atty. Gen. Edmund G. (Pat) Brown, his Democratic opponent.

Under California's unique cross-filing system, both were listed under Republican and Democratic labels. But it was unlikely that either would score a grand-slam victory.

Other Primaries
Other primary races were being held in Montana, South Dakota and Alabama. Three candidates for governor were being chosen along with 2 for the Senate and 34 for House seats. The Alabama primary was of the runoff variety and involved the 2 top vote getters from a field of 14 that were in the original gubernatorial primary May 6.

Dr. William G. Murray, 54-year-old college economics professor, won the Republican nomination for governor in Iowa's primary Monday. He defeated Lt. Gov. William Nicholas, who was seeking the nomination for the third time. Murray will oppose Democratic Gov. Herschel Loveless in November. Loveless had no opposition for renomination.

California was being eyed because of one big question: Is there a strong trend toward the Democrats in the state?

One Big Issue

California also had primaries for the Senate. Retiring Gov. Goodwin J. Knight was favored to defeat Mayor George Christopher of San Francisco in the GOP primary. Rep. Clair Engle had no opposition on the Democratic side.

Knight, who originally planned to run for governor again, withdrew when Knowland entered the race. But the move shattered party harmony and there were predictions that some Republicans would deny their votes to Knowland in protest.

Montana expected the quietest campaign in years with Sen. Mike Mansfield and Reps. Lee Metcalf and Leroy H. Anderson, all Democrats, favored to win renomination.

Widow In Race

Two candidates vied for the GOP nomination to oppose Mansfield. They were Mrs. Blanche Anderson, Helena widow, and Lou Welch, 31-year-old metal plant worker.

The Republican contest for governor was the main feature in South Dakota. Three candidates were in the running, Atty. Gen. Phil Saunders, Lt. Gov. Roy Houck and Atty. Charles Lacey. Ralph Herseeth, a farmer, was unopposed for the Democratic nomination. Republican Gov. Joe Foss will run for a House seat in November.

Atty. Gen. John Patterson and Circuit Judge George Wallace were the opponents in Alabama's runoff primary. A major issue

AME Conference Held At Hartford

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—Six new church appointments were announced Monday at the conclusion of the 107th annual session of the New England Conference of the African Methodist Episcopal Church.

About 1,500 delegates from New England, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Chicago and the south attended the five-day meeting.

The new assignments include the Rev. C. B. Barrows, from St. Paul's Church, Cambridge, Mass., to Asbury Park Church, Chester, Pa.

GERMAN GIRL DENIED HONOR

HANOVER, Mass. (AP) — Roswitha Bernhardt, 17, a junior at Hanover High School, has been denied an American Legion Auxiliary award because she is not a citizen.

The pretty native of Germany and a spokesman for the auxiliary disclosed the decision Sunday.

The auxiliary disqualified Miss Bernhardt because she and her parents came to this country only six years ago and have not yet become citizens.

Roswitha was the choice of the school's senior class and faculty for the auxiliary's award for the most worthy girl in her class. The auxiliary gave the award.

Instead, to the second choice, Jane Melanson.

Mrs. David Studley, chairman of the award committee, said: "The rules state the award must go to an American citizen. This is a national event. I'm not doing anything that's not being done across the country."

Roswitha told newsmen: "I think they're making too much fuss about the whole thing."

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — A police report Monday said officers were called to Methodist Hospital when Leon White, 22, came in with a bullet wound in the hand.

Asked what happened, police said he replied: "Nothing much. I was cleaning my pistol to shoot my wife and it went off."

He was charged with being a disorderly person.

WORLD ON WHEELS

By Floyd Clymer

Take a good look at the dirty oil drained from your crankcase the next time you have it drained. Chances are you will find it laden with dirt and grit. This could be convincing proof that it is extremely important to change or clean your oil filter every 5,000 miles or so. Warm up your cold engine at about 800 revolutions per minute. This means the throttle should be down not more than 1/4 or 1/2 inch.

After the temperature needle leaves the zero mark, it is okay to "give 'er the gun" . . . When humidity is high, carburetor icing occurs between 30 and 55 degrees F. Most critical temperature is 40 when icing occurs with humidity as low as 65%. For this reason many motor fuels are now being treated to resist ice and you can buy many good additives that can be added to your gas tank . . . At this time of year when there is always a possibility of rain, it is advisable to check your windshield wiper blades.

In dry weather there is danger of dust, dirt, and other abrasives clinging to the windshield to scratch it when the wiper goes into action—it is a good idea occasionally to use a wet rag to thoroughly clean the edges of the wiper blades. . . . Some drivers do not shift properly when driving an imported car. Too many Americans are interested in climbing a certain hill in high gear. Many imported cars with small engines do not develop that kind of horsepower—most imported cars with higher engine speeds and while it is bad practice to "lug" or over-pull any car by remaining in high gear too long, it is more important to change gears oftener in an imported car. . . . It is indeed proper to downshift on any car, especially imported cars with small engines the minute the road speed drops and the tachometer reads 2,000 rpm's or less, and shifting down is best when accelerating or for fast getaway. . . . Fuel injection still has an appeal to certain prospective buyers. However, Ed Cole, performance minded and alert general manager of GM's Chevrolet Division, and a man who knows as much about fuel injection as any top auto executive, recently stated, "As a replacement for the carburetor, fuel injection is a long way off." . . . New York's Mayor Robert F. Wagner recently asked the presidents of five leading automobile companies to build smaller cars. In making the request Wagner said the trend toward longer American cars has shrunk curb and parking lot space and increased traffic congestion. The mayor, making his appeal as chairman of the Metropolitan Regional Conference, certainly said a mouthful—what the mayor said is true. However, I would suggest he make a start in his own backyard by replacing thousands of those large, wide and heavy cars that might be considered small trucks if it were not for the fact that they call them taxicabs in New York City. . . . Turn signals are now a must—Section 637.3 of the California Vehicle Code states that the following vehicles which are first registered on or after January 1, 1958, shall be equipped with an electrical turn signal or a type approved by the department:

1. All passenger type vehicles except motorcycles and motor driven cycles.
 2. All motor trucks and truck tractors.
 3. All trailers or semitrailers having a gross weight of 6,000 pounds or more.
- The above ruling by California officials will undoubtedly have an impact with motor vehicle departments in other states—the law is a good one and should be compulsory throughout the United States.

Police Practice What They Preach

By Jeanne Smith,
Safety Consultant

Local police departments all over the country not only advocate safe driving, but they practice what they preach.

At El Cerrito, Calif. (pop. 18,011), police drivers had a perfect record last year, and won a high award in the National Police Fleet safety contest.

Miss Smith

This was the outcome of the action of Police Chief Howard A. Thulin who, two years ago, became alarmed at the department's high accident rate.

Most of the mishaps were minor, but they were costing the city a considerable sum of money — not to mention the embarrassment they were causing.

Chief Thulin appointed a safety committee to investigate each accident. Inattention, more than any other single factor, was a principal villain, the investigation revealed. Side streets and parking lots were the location of most of the accidents; others occurred when officers parked their squad cars so that they were exposed to rear-end collisions.

As soon as the drivers were brought before the committee to explain these accidents, Chief Thulin says, the number of mishaps dropped considerably until finally, in 1957, there were no accidents at all.

Chief Thulin thinks there is a lot for the public to learn from the safe driving practices of his police force.

For example, none of his officers drive at excessive speeds, even when pursuing a speeder. With modern police facilities, chasing a speeding vehicle is no longer necessary or sensible. Inter-city radio communication systems are used to warn police in the next town of an approaching speeder, and a road block then can be set up to apprehend him.

"Many times the speeder is traveling at such a high rate," says Chief Thulin, "that our officers would not be able to keep their cars under control if they tried to keep the violator in sight."

"We've had cases where speeders tear through town at 80 or 90 miles an hour and pile up minutes later along the highway. If we had tried to keep

HABITUAL BAD DRIVER TO GET NEW ATTENTION

HERSHEY, Pa. (AP) — The motorist who habitually violates the law without committing an offense serious enough to cost him his license is receiving increased attention from enforcement officials, a New Jersey state official reported today.

Fred Gassert, New Jersey's commissioner of motor vehicles, delivered to a conference of motor vehicle administrators the findings of a two-year study on point systems in effect in various states for dealing with traffic law violators.

Gassert's report was a highlight of the four-day, 37th annual meeting of the Eastern Conference of Motor Vehicle Administrators, region one, which closes here Wednesday.

Surveyed 21 States

The study covered 21 states and the District of Columbia. B. J. Campbell, research associate of the Institute of Government, University of North Carolina, assisted in preparation of Gassert's 153-page report.

"The law of most jurisdictions specifies mandatory revocation (of driver's license) upon conviction for any of several violations," Gassert said. " . . . they have in common the fundamental, implicit assumption that drivers who violate the motor vehicle law are dangerous and must be dealt with."

Of the habitual violator who, nevertheless, does not commit an offense serious enough to warrant revocation of his license, Gassert noted motor vehicle agencies "have been attempting to improve (1) criteria for defining the successive violator, (2) methods of locating him, and (3) means of improving him."

Gov. Leader will address the meeting at tonight's annual banquet.

CHESTER, Pa. (AP) — Maj. Gen. John B. Medaris, chief of the Army missile command, Monday cautioned against "the growing tendency to measure American institutions and progress in terms of their Russian counterparts."

Medaris received an honorary doctorate of laws at the 137th commencement exercises of Pennsylvania Military College.

up, our officers might have ended up the same way."

Courtesy and defensive driving are the keys to safe driving, Chief Thulin believes. And he emphasizes that motorists should always be alert when they drive.

Good advice, coming from the head of a police department that has won one of the top safety awards in the nation.

THE DRIVER'S SEAT

Twelve hundred men are currently roaming the nation in a concentrated drive to keep you — who occupy the driver's seat — alive.

These are the traffic engineers who study street and highway conditions to find out why you crack into other cars, why you get lost, why you can't travel as smoothly as you would like. These are the men with the aspirin to cure the most horrendous headache of the age — the horror on our highways.

On their 2,400 shoulders rests the responsibility of picking out localized traffic problems and devising solutions for them. Some of these solutions seem to be right out of science fiction but many have proved to be effective in getting you to your destination in the one piece you were in when you left home.

How To Keep Pace

In their 1,200 brains they must figure how to keep pace with expensive super-highway construction while keeping the coffers solvent for the maintenance and improvement of existing roads.

You have no doubt complained about fighting the traffic. These are the men who do it for a living — and with great success in spite of the fact they have minimum funds and maximum problems. Their intensity and imagination are finding new answers to highway problems.

It was a traffic engineer who reasoned that if you separate the automotive tortoisoles from the hares on uphill grades, you could cut down on head-on collisions. This relatively uncomplicated theory became practical with the inauguration of "creeper" lanes reserved for slow-moving vehicles eliminating the need for hill-passing.

Protecting Drivers

It was a traffic engineer who sought to protect drivers from running off highways at night by tracing the outer edge of the road with a reflective white line.

It was a traffic engineer who jumped on the idea of using brilliant reflective signs, as important to your life at night as in the daytime, so you can see them 24 hours a day.

It was a traffic engineer who found that trees and brush by intersection waysides kept traffic fatalities up and that trimming or cutting them down was one of the least expensive ways of keeping motorists alive.

It was a traffic engineer who worked with florists to plant rose bushes in dividing lanes providing a "crash barrier" for fast-moving

Thomas Texaco Station Has Been Enlarged

The Roy E. Thomas Texaco Station on Steinwehr Ave., opened first in 1935, has been expanded and enlarged and now offers complete one-stop service to the motoring public with three regular workers and a part time employee.

The station was opened for the first time by Joseph E. Codori on August 3, 1935. It was remodeled later to keep up with changing automotive needs.

When it opened for business it had one lube bay, an office and a sales room. Now it has three lube bays with greatly enlarged office and sales areas.

The most recent remodeling was to install larger underground storage tanks for increased fuel storage and to accommodate additional pumps to better serve the needs of customers. At that time the entire drive area was re-surfaced.

The present proprietor, Roy E. Thomas, first opened the station on September 1, 1956, with one employee. As the staff has expanded to three regular and a part-time employee, the services rendered by the station have kept pace.

cars that spin off the road, and providing an element of roadside beauty to break travel monotony. And when the five billion dollar annual highway accident bill is finally reduced, it will be the traffic engineers who can take a rightfully earned bow.

without fortune — but all cognizant of the obligation to truth. Our generation is aware of the truth of beauty and the beauty of truth. We ask you to place confidence in us.

"Justice and Mercy"
For it is from you that we have learned justice and mercy, love and dedication. You have shaped the world that will soon be ours to shape. And cynics to the contrary, it is not a pitiful world. It is a world of opportunity. There is a place for the contribution of our generation; a contribution that we are most willing, and most eager, to make.

Our distinguished neighbor, President Eisenhower, who graces our commencement today, has given us our cue for the future: "When I meet people of your age then I suddenly realize you are the future, and you are going to do the things that we wish now we could do. We must have faith that each generation gets better, and I am quite certain that all those things that you are dreaming now, and we are hoping for, you will do."

It is our duty to rise to these expectations. Our responsibility is to serve ourselves by serving others. Paramount shall be our desire to enrich our world by disinterested public service.

"Prophecy of Doom"
We will not be cozened of our birthright by the prophets of doom. From the Mayflower Compact to the Charter of the United Nations, Americans — those worthy of the name — have risen to each trying occasion. We must be, we shall be, the guardians of our heritage. We ask only your trust — that you share our confidence in our country and her institutions; for it is upon this faith, in an age of scientific wizardry, that essential adjustments must be made.

Long ago in the fall of 1836, William Henry Harrison, just prior to the election which was to make him the ninth President of the United States, stopped at Mount St. Mary's and addressing the student body said: "Do your duty from day to day, wherever your lot is cast, and you will have done everything, all that God requires, no matter whether you occupy a high or low place. If everyone does his own duty, the country is safe, the church is safe, everyone is safe for this life and the next."

We will follow that advice. We will face the future with faith. We assure you that the future is safe in our hands.

charged with aggravated assault, one minor assault, one burglary, one larceny, two auto theft, three embezzlement and fraud, two morals offenses, one deadly weapons, three liquor laws, nine driving while under the influence and four motor vehicle laws defendants.

The court found 13 of those charged with non-support guilty and also found one of the motor law violators and three of the disorderly guilty. Juries found one of the manslaughter defendants, one of morals charges and two of the motor vehicle law offenders guilty. A man charged with robbery and a man charged with larceny were both sent to state prisons or reformatories.

13 Support Orders
Three defendants were given suspended sentences or placed on probation. They had been charged with burglary, carrying deadly weapons and one "other offense."

Twenty-nine were sent to jail, eight of those charged with driving while under the influence; three motor vehicle laws; two liquor laws; one, morals charge; three, embezzlement or fraud; two, auto theft; one, minor assault and two, aggravated assault.

Twelve were ordered to pay fines or costs only, including one charged with manslaughter, one charged with a morals charge, one charged with liquor violations, four charged with motor code violations and five charged with "other offenses."

Eighteen received other sentences including 13 given support orders to pay, three charged with being disorderly, one charged with driving while under the influence and one charged with a morals offense.

companions-in-arms and they have been honored on Memorial Day. Armistice Day has now given way to Veterans Day and I am sure, with time, Memorial Day will emerge as the only day we honor our veterans of all wars.

"To me, however, Memorial Day will continue to be a day of decoration, a day in which we not only pay homage to those who served in our Armed forces in time of war, but a day on which we honor the memory of all our dead. It is just and right that on this day you and I visit the cemetery in which our parents and relatives lie buried and decorate their final resting places. I can thank my parents, just as you can thank your forefathers, that they had within them the desire to establish a new way of life, a life of freedom and of liberty. I can thank them for having instilled in me a spirit of patriotism which cannot be measured in dollars and cents but in a spirit of thanksgiving for the bountiful blessings these United States have given to me and mine."

HOPE FOR GOOD JAZZ MAY LIE IN TV POWERS

By DAVE GARROWAY

NEW YORK (AP)—There's a growing trend on television this season to pay more attention to jazz. Do a little probing, and I think you'll find the reason why. Jazz looms so big on TV because it reflects the kind of culture in which we live — its growing tensions, anxieties, pace. As a music form, it is coming of age because it reflects reality.

Too, the lunatic fringe is dropping off, and jazz is becoming socially acceptable. The Newport concert in jazz has helped that tremendously. Today, you see quite erudite articles on jazz in dignified national magazines.

It's An Upswing
Jazz is on the upswing. In the past decade, it has come a long way. Proof is the growth of jazz festivals, album sales, concerts, and hi-fi sales, as well as the night clubs specializing in jazz, and jazz is becoming respectable.

The growing trend toward jazz on TV was boosted last fall when "Seven Lively Arts" presented a superb 90-minute special called "The Sound of Jazz." There have been several other good ones since. For instance, on April 9, NBC — TV paid tribute to jazz with "Swing Into Spring," a musical show starring Benny Goodman, Ella Fitzgerald and Harry James.

Despite its growing popularity on TV, jazz, the fabulous infant, to coin a cliché, has a long way to go. America's ear isn't yet tuned to jazz completely.

Some Don't Know
Blame, if you must, the fact that many people don't really know what jazz is. Some think it's interchangeable with rock 'n' roll, not having heard it. They don't understand it, and so they're afraid of it, because it's only natural to fear something you don't understand.

And of course, the American people have had too much bad jazz—jazz that's cheap, vulgar, dull.

In TV, perhaps, lies a great hope of swinging America around to hearing good jazz. TV will undoubtedly yield more power as time goes on. TV is a great method of knowing people. If a viewer gets interested in the musician playing jazz—even if he simply likes the way he looks — he will begin to like jazz a little more.

KIDNAPER IS WED IN CHURCH

MONROE, Wash. (AP)—George Edward Collins and Katherine Meyers were married Monday in a quiet church ceremony which their two children missed but prison guards did not.

Collins is a convicted kidnaper, serving up to 10 years at the Monroe State Reformatory. His bride is on probation for her part in the kidnapping last winter of an 8-year-old Edmonds, Wash., boy. The youngster escaped from Collins unharmed.

Both newlyweds are 21. Mrs. Collins had said she would bring their year-old daughter and 2-week-old son to the ceremony, but left them home. Only members of Collins' immediate family, newsmen and the guards — dressed in dark blue business suits — were present.

David Bauer, a church elder, performed the ceremony in the Seventh Day Adventist Church. The wedding was approved by state prison authorities after Collins' conviction.

"Quicksilver Alf" Escapes Again From English Prison

By EDDY GILMORE
LONDON (AP)—Britain has one of the master jailbreakers of the century — or some of Europe's filmiest jails.

Alfred (Quicksilver Alf) Hinds, 41, escaped for the third time in 30 months Sunday, plunging Scotland Yard into a massive man-hunt.

The Daily Express said a serious row was brewing in official circles about the apparent ease with which persons known to be escape-minded break out of English jails.

No Average Jailbreaker
Alfred Hinds is no average jailbreaker. He says he does it to draw attention to his innocence. Sentenced to 12 years for his part in a daring London robbery, Hinds broke out of Nottingham Jail in 1955 and remained free for 248 days.

During his months of freedom, he flooded members of Parliament, the newspapers and television stations with well-written letters protesting his innocence.

He was nabbed, living in Ireland.

No Clues Handy
In London's heavily guarded Law Court he was brought to trial last year on a technical question dealing with one of his many appeals.

Walking down a narrow dark corridor of the building, Hinds pushed his guards into a cloak room, locked the door, and dashed
